

THE GREAT NEW YORK--ALL ABOUT IT--SUNDAY'S WORLD. LAST EDITION.

FLOCKING TO GIVE BAIL.

Brooklyn's Indicted Officials Arraigned in Kings County Court of Sessions.

EACH PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

From One to Six Indictments Found Against Each Accused Public Officer.

$2,500 BAIL ON EVERY COUNT.

Ernst Nathan and "the Little Dutch Grocer" Among the Bondsmen.

The wholesale indictments of city and county officials in Kings County, as announced yesterday's EVENING WORLD, has created a great sensation in political circles, and the citizens of Brooklyn are to-day awaiting the Grand Jury's fearless action in handling the matter boldly.

SUPERVISOR JOHN Y. McRANE.
It was expected that a great many of the thirty odd men who have been indicted would appear this morning to plead to the charges against them and give bail for their appearance when called for trial. A big crowd gathered in the hallway and eagerly watched the entrance to the District Attorney's office.

The crowd found something to talk about when Detective Sergt. Cornelius Mahoney came into the building and went direct into Mr. Highway's private office. The District Attorney and his assistant, Mr. Clarke, arrived soon afterwards, and the three were closeted together in consultation.

COUSIN AUDITOR FREDERICK KELLER.
There is considerable speculation as to whether the recommendation of the Grand Jury that suits be brought against Mayor Body, the Aldermen, Supervisors and other city and county officials, to recover the money illegally paid, will be followed.

IS THE TYPHUS STAMPED OUT?

Gratifying Decrease in the Number of New Cases.

A Typhus Patient Who Walked Into Dr. Roberts's Office.

Indications now point to the early and entire stamping out of typhus in this city if the Health authorities do not relax any of the vigilance and promptness which they have heretofore displayed.

Dead from Typhus.
The death was reported this morning of Thomas Will, thirty-nine years old, on North Street, died last night at 8:30 o'clock.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning a man walked into the Bureau of Contagious Diseases and complained of feeling ill. He held in his hand a card from the Board of Health, from whose headquarters on Mott street he had been sent.

MORE ROOM NEEDED.

Commissioner's Conclusion as to New York's Post-Office.

No New Structure Uptown Will Be Recommended.

The expense of the conditions that obtain at the Grant Post-office building made in the Evening World yesterday, gave much weight to the Commissioner's conclusion from Washington to look into the needs of the New York General Post-Office.

Buildings May Be Rented to Relieve Congested Mail Service.

One of the Commissioner's, W. B. Campbell, Assistant General Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service, said this morning: "I quite agree with The Evening World that a vast amount of space is wanted in the Federal building, and I say, emphatically, that I am opposed to the erection of a new Post-Office building uptown, downtown or anywhere else in New York."

TOMBS SAFE FORCED.

Massive Outside Doors Opened with Jimmies.

The Burglars Were Evidently After Important Papers.

Frightened Away Before They Could Use an Explosive.

The Tombs prison has furnished many startling episodes, and events that have occurred there have been chronicled far and wide and made conspicuous features of every criminal history that has been compiled of the "great metropolis."

The scene of many executions and the foundation of many tales of truth and fiction; the place that seems to have had a sort of spectral terror to criminals of all degrees has lost its mute influence.

It has been known to excite feelings of dread and remorse and most others in the category, but the episode of thieves—never. At most not until today.

No one has ever been known to suspect that the vaults to the Tombs contained a sufficient amount of valuable "plunder" to inspire a raid by thieves.

But such, incredible as it may appear, is actually the case, and there is the omen evidence in the case of a hundred doors and a despoiled vault to substantiate the assertion.

The Tombs were actually invaded by thieves some time after midnight this morning, and an attempt was made to open the vaults. At least not until today.
